PRINCE GEORGE TO WED A MONTENEGRIN PRINCESS

Prince George of Greece, for whom the press of Europe has so frequently picked out a bride, it is now officially announced will marry Princess Xenia, seventh child of the ruler of the little principality of Montenegro, another of whose daughters, Princess Helene, is now Queen of Italy. Princess Xenia is 29 years old. Prince George of Greece has of late years been a prominent figure in the history of his country, as well as in the international affairs of the Continent, although now but 32 years of age. While still a youth the Prince distinguished himself by defending the present Czar of Russia from the attack of a Japanese policeman. The two young men were making a tour of the Far East at the time. It is believed that, but for the timely interference of Prince George, the Czar would have lost his life on the occasion. In the war with Turkey Prince George was the moving spirit in the struggle of his country. He rendered active service in command of the Greek navy. By these services the young man endeared himself to his people. When the powers sought a man for the difficult task of governing disturbed Crete, the bone over which Greeks and Turks fought, Prince George was selected, and if one may judge from the fact that no note of further discord has yet been heard from Crete, the choice seems to have been an excellent one.

PIPKIN PUTS A FINGER IN THE TIMPERANCE PIE

EDITOR ADVERTISER: It seems as if most everybody nowadays is having their say about the Timperance Question and I kinder thort I wood like to put in my oar. In the first place the most of the folks here don't want timperance.

The big men here (they say) all have their cellars full of the best kind of intemperance pizen and they enjoy it and also luv to have their danger of making their lives shorter by ten or fifteen years or coming to a end all of a sudden.

In the next place it takes a hull lot of folks in a town who dont drink their pizen, to carry on a timperance law and you no it. Honolulu aint redy yet yit for sich a long step and if it should try it every body says she would fall down. We will haft to wait untill sum of their old toppers who set the fashun are under ground.

Now we must look at their thing right in their face, we cant make any teetotal laws yit and sich a law wood dew no good if we uid. It wood only make the pizen tell more lies than they like tew.

Now we have got ter dew somthin and there is no use in tryin to dew what we cant dew. But I will tell yer what I wood dew. Fust I wood git them kind of books for their schules that tell all about their danger of alcohol (perhaps I did not spell it rite, but you no what I mean) and lots of other pizens and be sure that their schule mams made all their boys and girls larn all ther was in thim. Then we ougter start several timperance societies and keep them going as long as we kin.

And most important of all I wood insist on the men who want the pizen in the town paying the extra cost to the city out of their own pants pockets and dont fool yerselves in callen it high liscense or say you are in partnership with their devil just becuz you are wilien ter let their man who luv ter see his frinds ridin in their hurry-up wagen pay their costs of their ride.

We might let their Bored of Public Health tiger the extra cost to our town of havin saloons here or if they did not want to for fear of loosing sum votes next electshun I am sure that their man who writ that peace in yer paper about their pizen stuff and used sich hiforluthn words to prove it was pizen would be glad ter dew it.

Perhaps should their "great big hearted men" who sell their pizen say they did not beleve Clivis Secundus and his figurs we could ask Bishop Willis and the Anglican Churchman to use a little of their sparetime and if they agreed I know that every one else wood be satisfied. I think you will see the pint I wish ter make I dont beleve that a man who goes without their alcoholic stuff should have ter pay the costs of a Policee stashun and jedge Wilcozes salery any more than every one should be made to pay for the Central Union Church and Mr. Kincaides expences. Hoping you will print this I remain yer frind,

PHILANDER PIPKIN.
P. S.—My wife has looked this letter over and say the words are all spelled right, but the grammar is not very good. She went to schule in Boston.

RETURNING FROM WAR IN CHINA

Japanese Who Went Back To the Orient Seeking Hawaii Again.

Former Japanese residents of Honolulu and of the Hawaiian Islands in general are expected to return from the Orient by dozens. It is anticipated that great numbers will arrive on the next steamer and return to their vocations which were disturbed when the Boxer trouble broke out in China. The cause of the interruption in their work here was caused by orders from the military department calling upon them to return to their native land and serve their country's cause in China.

Trained to obey orders of this kind, the Japanese soldiers in Hawaii dropped their various classes of labor and hastened to Japan as fast as the steamers could plough their way across the Pacific. Letters received from numbers of these conscripts state that they have served in the Japanese armies in the advance upon Peking and performed garrison duty in many cities in the Chinese Empire and were about to be discharged from further service. As soon as they could procure their discharges they stated they intended returning immediately to Hawaii, where more money and more satisfactory living were to be obtained than in their own country.

THE MARDI GRAS BALL.

Dancers Must Be Masked But Need Not Wear Fanny Dress.

A correspondent asks the following question of the Advertiser:

"I beg you to inform me as to the following clipping from today's issue of your paper: 'No one will be allowed in the grand march or permitted to dance without a mask.' Do I understand from that one may go in evening dress and dance provided he wears a mask?"

The general committee of the carnival has decided that unless those who attended the Mardi Gras ball were in fancy costume and masked, or in evening dress masked, they would not be permitted to go upon the dancing floor until after the masks were removed. This also carried with it a proviso that if evening dress was worn the hair also should be powdered as a means of further concealing one's identity. The spirit of the bal masque is essentially such that every one appearing upon the dancing floor should be disguised in fancy, grotesque or some costume designed to hide identity of the wearer. Those who do not care to enter into the fun-making upon the floor are expected to remain in the balconies and apart from the dancers until a general unmasking is effected by the order of Prince Carnival.

If France wishes to get rid of her tire-some General Mercier she ought to give him the command of that invasion of England—St. Louis Republic.

The name is a guarantee of its purity—Jesse Moore Whiskey is always right.
